Adoption Information

Thank you for your interest in adopting an equine from Blue Moon Rescue & Sanctuary. Please read our adoption policy carefully. Our goal is to find loving, forever homes for the equines in our care. These are our most basic requirements

*Adopters must complete and submit our adoption application along with a signed adoption agreement

*Adopters are financially, legally and morally responsible for the adopted equine.

*Interested adopters must provide at least 2 references familiar with equine.

*Adopters understand mares are not to be bred.

*During the first year, Blue Moon Rescue & Sanctuary may do periodic inspections (with notification to the Adopter). At the end of the year, a final inspection may take place. If at anytime during the first year, the 'Adoption Policy' guidelines are not being met, the horse must be returned to Blue Moon Rescue & Sanctuary without any reimbursements or compensation to the original adopter.

*If for any reason, the adopter can no longer care for the equine, Blue Moon Rescue & Sanctuary shall be notified and arrangements will be made for the return of the equine. Encumbrances of any liens, including feed liens will not apply.

*Adopters are to understand that all health and behavioral conditions of adopted equine may not be obvious and Blue Moon Rescue & Sanctuary cannot know all of the details of adopted equine's history.

*Adopter is advised to consult a licensed veterinarian and trainer to evaluate adopted equine.

*Adopter will agree to provide a minimum of the following:

- 3 sided shelter
- A turn out area of no less than 5,000 sq feet that is free of barb wire
- Physical contact with other livestock such as another equine, cow, goat etc.
- 24/7 access to clean water
- Sufficient feed
- Proper hoof & dental care, veterinary care as needed
